Skills

Fieldwork: Brazil – Atlantic Forest (2008-2014), Cerrado (2008-2014), and Amazonia (2014-2020); Panama (2022). Amphibian and reptile sampling, identification, morphological and ecological data, GIS, data collection and organization of field expeditions.

Leadership: Master fieldwork, Brazil (2009-2011), planning and collecting data; The fieldwork at the National Park Monte Roraima in the Indigenous Land Raposa Serra do Sol, Brazil (2019); A group of ten graduate students through three months of fieldwork at the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute (STRI), Panama (2022), collecting, processing and executing different thermophysiology experiments.

Scientific Collection Contributions: During fieldwork, specimen tissues were collected for DNA extraction. From my undergraduate studies onward, I performed scientific collections in the field, catalogued and identified specimens for collaborative projects. The specimens are now part of three herpetology collections at PUC Minas (Belo Horizonte, MG), Universidade Federal de Viçosa (Viçosa, MG) and Instituto Nacional de Pesquisas da Amazônia - INPA (Manaus, AM).

Molecular Lab Experience: During my PhD, I learned next generation sequencing methods (e.g., ddRADseq, PCR, pippin prep, DNA clean up and others) during the one year fellowship at Dr. Lacey Knowles' Lab (University of Michigan). I prepared four Illumina libraries using the ddRADseq protocol. During my postdoctoral at the University of Nevada Reno, I also learned how to analyze pooled population sequencing (Pool-Seq) data, assemble a Anolis genome, and develop SNP chips for genotyping, among others techniques.

Software and Techniques: I am proficient in several bioinformatics programs for next generation sequence (STACKS and ipyRAD pipelines), in addition to phylogenetic and population genetics analyses (FASTSINCOAL2, Structure, BEAST, RaxML, SNAPP, R packages and others). As a Postdoctoral Fellow, I have used different bioinformatic resources to assemble and analyze a Anolis genomic data (GitHub scripts, Pool-seq pipeline, BWA, Samtools, miniconda). I have also used these genomic data to generate pedigrees for each transplanted island population, and to conduct a genome-wide association study (GWAS) to reveal the genetic basis of important physiological and morphological traits.

Volunteer Activities

- 2019 Planning the IX Workshop of Genetic, Conservation and Evolutionary Biology, Manaus, Brazil
I have led a group of graduate students and planned a workshop for the Graduate Program in Genetic, Conservation and Evolutionary Biology at the Instituto Nacional de Pesquisas da Amazônia (INPA).
